

Bathhouse to Park Center update. November 2004

The blue tarps are off and the roof is done. The roof line has been raised 3 inches, insulation added and the new pressure-treated pine shake-shingles (a more renewable resource) are installed. In the window frames, the textured glass panes have been replaced with clear glass. The flooring, internal walls and other interior structures have been removed.

The other big news is that our architect, Jim Hambright, now has some help with the addition of the Pazden-Smith Group architectural firm. They will handle the plans for the mechanical (HVAC, electrical, etc.), civil (water, sewer, etc.) and oversee the completion of the interior. A thank you to Jim for his contribution of his excellent talent and energy to this project.

*Paris Mountain State Park
Greenville, SC
(864) 244-5565
wilddave.com/friends*

